

Chapter 1

This is the content of chapter 1. Each page has a running header and page number that should be detected and filtered out. The body content should be extracted in the correct reading order across pages.

Chapter 2

This is the content of chapter 2. Each page has a running header and page number that should be detected and filtered out. The body content should be extracted in the correct reading order across pages.

Chapter 3

This is the content of chapter 3. Each page has a running header and page number that should be detected and filtered out. The body content should be extracted in the correct reading order across pages.